I loved my brother, and I'm going to miss the time I had to speak to friend...And the times I had to speaking to my friend.

In the recent past, I've made excuses about not going to see my friend Johnny...busy with work and other things...I would call to let him know that I will forward him later, and his response was always, "give thanks". I give thanks that I had the pleasure of being in his company as a friend and confidante, Johnny was a great friend, brother, father, and a good man period.

Many conversations over the year with us all has ended with the comment from Johnny that, "...a ur fault!" we've all heard this from our friend if the conversation had to do your your personal relationship or about women 😭.

It was always our fault, as it is now...

“ I am deeply saddened to hear about Johnny's passing. I will never forget the times when I would come to spend time with him and my sister when they were married. He was always so nice, pleasant, kind, and loving.

I know that right now, he's smiling big, as that's the kind of joy he brought to everyone around him.

My heart especially goes out to his children during this incredibly difficult time. Please take solace in knowing that he is now in the arms of an angel, embraced by peace and eternal love. His memory lives on in the laughter, kindness, and love he shared so generously.

Wishing you all strength and comfort as you navigate this loss. You are in my thoughts and prayers.
