“ Memories of Nellie will always be of her warm and beautiful spirit and the easy way she loved. Her love was the constant in every kind and thoughtful gesture she selflessly extended to all who knew her. Her love guided and quietly shaped our lives through words of wisdom and very practical advice sourced from her own life's journey. Her love encouraged us to be positive always remembering tomorrow is another day even as she herself courageously battled for her health and life. But most of all her love shone through her unwavering belief and faith in God her Savior through whom she knew all things were made possible.

Simply put, Nellie was love!

May her memory forever be a blessing!

We will miss our talks Ms. Nellie...

Rest easy in God's Grace.

Love always,

“ Dearest Nellie or Rose as she was affectionately called, a name befitting of her as she symbolized love and beauty. Love for those around her and most importantly, love for her Almighty Father; beauty that transcended from within which captured and captivated anyone who was blessed enough to be in her presence. Our Rose, a gift from God is now an outstanding flower in Heaven's Garden.
Rest in peace

“ What I remember most about my sister Rose is how beautiful, smart, and strong she was. You could not be in her presence and not be warmed by her smile. As a younger sibling, I was always amazed by her wisdom which seemed to come from the anguish of her life experiences: This is what made her strong. She was strong not only in defense of what she believed, but also in defense of those she loved and felt the need to protect. I know this because I was a beneficiary of her protection. Illness has taken away my sister, but it has not taken away an integral part of my formative past and memory of her. I will always remember my sister and I will always love her...until I too am taken away.

“ I will never forget the fond memories I have of Aunt Rose. The most significant ones have shaped and molded my character in a meaningful way. She was truly a genuine Christian that had an epiphany for the love of family and humanity. She would not allow herself to forget where she came from or to help every person in need; whether emotionally or spiritually. Her selfless character can not be called into question even in her transition to be with her Lord and savior.

*She was tired
No one could see the level of tired
They saw the outside
The one giving, smiling, showing up.
And yet inside, she felt the fatigue
The tired of trying to keep up
The tired of agendas.
The tired of worries.
But she kept on.*

*She kept on giving and loving
She kept on hoping
She kept on showing up
She pushed forward
Out of LOVE.....*

*My family and I will truly miss your warm embrace and your words of wisdom, aunt Rose.

“ Rose as we lovingly called her was a beautiful and caring person. She loved life, family and friends. She was very devoted to her church and the charities she served. She endured through her illnesses with dignity and grace. Rose will be greatly missed for her kind words, wisdom and grace. May her children and grandchildren remember her as that doting mother and grandmother who loved them dearly. May her soul RIP
