“ "Orane, I have known you all your life, and was in total shock when I got the call from your Mom that you had passed....I had just seen you at Christmas, and the hug you gave me belied your illness. So many people have commented on you warmth, and your smile....an inheritance from your wonderful parents. Rest Peacefully in the arms of our Lord my "Son", and may the good Lord grant Monique, Cecile, your parents and the rest of your family the strength to go on without you.....Sleep on Beloved....."

“ "I know you are resting in peace. I will always have that special place in my heart that holds the memories of you. Yo may be absent in the body but you are present in the spirit with the Lord. I will never understand why you were taken so soon but like they say "the good die early". Every time I look up I will see "that star" and know you are smiling down at me...so long my beloved."

“For the days when you came into the breakroom in Atlanta and heated the homemade food that you made everyone wanted to know what restaurant you bought that from, I will remember. The times when you said in your Carriibbean dialect, "Madonna I love seeing you and your sister Elesha together". When she passed and Orane was waiting at the hospital with my family. That's the type of friend he,was. There until the end. I will forever miss the beautiful smile of this gentle giant. Family...know that he was loved and represented well.”

“Mr. Max, our almighty God saw your suffering and decided to bring you to a place where everyday the sun shines, where pain does not exist. You left a legacy of a very humble man. We clicked when we found out we shared the same born date. You have always been kind and considerate of all you have come in contact with. Today and everyday we celebrate your life. Now you are at rest in the heavenly fathers arm. Rest easy my friend. To the family of Mr. Max, May God continue to comfort you. My heartfelt condolences to the family.”

“I am missing you but I will try to let you go. Three decades of friendship was just too short. I miss your laugh, your encouragement...you were never too far away as we always maintained our friendship. To Ms. Rose, Mr. Willie, Cecile and Monique, may you all be strengthened by the fact that your son, brother and father lived a full life - giving a smile to all he knew. I love you and miss you Orane Maxwell.”
