“ I met Rushane in primary school, he was always laughing and joking around, after we graduated primary school. We went to different high schools, so we lost touch. Until I migrated and saw him at Broward College, then again he got hired at Cambridge where I was working at the time. We exchanged numbers and have been in contact often. I would call him random times during the days, and of course he was either sleeping or playing video games. We would go out or eat, mostly Asian restaurants and just catch up with work or just life overall. In April I had a baby, so our conversations slowed down, but recently I tried calling and texting him and I wasn't able to get in contact with him. He wasn't answering his calls or messages and I started to get concerned when days passed. He would normally call back within the same day letting me know he was sleeping. I know his job was talking about transferring him to either Texas or Georgia. He was fine with Georgia because he had a friend living there. I think he also mentioned this year visiting his best friend in PA. So I figured he might have moved, got a new number and forgot to tell me. So I googled his name looking for a new number and found his obituary. I just don't understand how we got here. What happened, why am I sharing memories about my friend Rushane. He was only 30years young, still in his prime. Could someone contact me please, I'm having a hard time accepting that this is reality. I've been composing this message for 2weeks now, I still can't believe this. We didn't exchange social media, so I don't have anyone to contact, if you're seeing this please call or text me. My number is 561-614-9614.
