“ I was very sad and shocked to hear that Thierry passed away. I guess I never thought this day would come so early. But I am grateful for the fact that he was cared for by uncle and tatie during his entire life. I know that he is in a comfortable place in the Lord's arms, and my prayer is for Tatie and uncle to find peace and comfort now that their life will never be the same again. With all my love, Olivia's and Alphée.

My dear Thierry,

The barriers that have separated us throughout your life are now over. You are now in the arms of our God; physical constraints no longer bind you. You are now and forever will dwell in glory with our Lord Jesus Christ. The last time I saw you was in 2005. A few years earlier, I had the pleasure of bringing my first daughter to meet you. Since then, my dad, who loved you very much, has departed as well. It has already been 18 years. Life is an unpredictable voyage; no one knows their final stop, but one thing is certain: at some point, we all must exit the train to our final dwelling place. As you celebrate in glory with my dad, I simply wonder the euphoria you are experiencing. If I could, I would ask you to tell him that we are still holding on in the front line, and we hope to come meet him soon. Until next time, Thierry, rest in peace.

Thierry you are a true fighter & a true soldier. You hold on as long as you could in the fierce battlefield of this life. Now, that you have finally graduated for all your efforts and for giving your best punches on the surmountable hardships of life on EARTH. Now you have reached to the dimension of a true overcomer. I applaud you nephew! And I know the whole family agrees with me and applaud you too along with me! Your courage is remarkable! You have taught to all of us great lesson of courage Thierry! And we all humbly take our hats off to salute you with a very dignify farewell, well-deserved my nephew! Farewell Thierry until we meet again! And to your devoted parents that've been ALWAYS on your side assisting your pilgrimage zealously, I want to add their efforts were remarkable and we all in this family take notice of their great love for you nephew. As you have crossed over Thierry, you will go on living in our hearts & memories! Goodbye Thierry until we meet again! Aunt Phoebe
